The Ties That Bind

We welcome Representative D. Craig Horn who will speak to us on “The Ties that Bind”. He will provide insight into how we can continue the legacy of George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Winston Churchill. Our founding documents are not only the foundation of this great nation, but are also guideposts to direct our future. Mr. Horn will delve into the character and foresight of these three great leaders in three different centuries and how they are tied together and tied to us. Craig Horn is a former Russian linguist with the US Air Force Security Service, and a retired businessman. He is in his fourth term in the NC General Assembly as a representative from Union county and is president of the Churchill Society of North Carolina. He and Celia Sandys, Sir Winston Churchill’s granddaughter, co-chair the Board of Advisors of the International Churchill Society and the Churchill Centre. Mr. Horn has spoken frequently around the country and internationally about the life of Winston Churchill and his inspiring leadership.

Remarks From The President

Hello to all of our MHA members! I hope each one of you is having a good 2018. As I sit here today writing to you, the passing of the Reverend Billy Graham is on my heart. Surely there is no figure in the history of Mecklenburg County who had more impact on North Carolina and the entire world than the Reverend Billy Graham. Well done, good and faithful servant. May you rest in peace.

If you have not already renewed your MHA membership for 2018, it’s not too late. See the membership blank elsewhere in this newsletter and please take a minute to send it in. We depend upon those memberships to fund our organization.

I look forward to our March 19th Dinner program and hearing from Representative Craig Horn about “The Ties That Bind” George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and Sir Winston Churchill.

Be sure to make your dinner reservations now. Also, mark your calendars for May 21st when we will have our second dinner meeting of the year and have our own Ann Williams as our speaker. Ann will share with us what she has learned about cotton in her program entitled “Early America’s Sleeping Beauty: How Nature and Nurture Turned an Unruly Fiber into King Cotton.”

Please let us know how we can further promote the history of Mecklenburg County. Your suggestions are welcome.

Centre Presbyterian Church

Centre Church, founded in 1765, was one of our area’s “Seven Sister” Presbyterian Churches. It is in Iredell County just a few miles north of Davidson. Although Centre was never in Mecklenburg County, there are numerous family connections between the communities around Centre, Hopewell and the village of Charlotte. The present sanctuary was built in 1854, replacing an earlier log building. We’ll hear some of Centre’s history, especially that pertaining to its burying ground where the graves go back to 1765. The desire for independence was as avid in Iredell as it was in Mecklenburg. There are 33 patriot soldiers buried at Centre, and June Robb will tell us some of their stories.

June Robb is English-born; she and her husband Ian live in Davidson and worship at Centre Church. She was a legal secretary to Hall Morrison “Morry” Johnston, and asked him if he was related to Robert Hall Morrison, founder of Davidson College. He replied that he thought so but didn’t know exactly how, and asked her to research it for him. She did, and found her calling. Since then she has done extensive research for Centre Church, especially for its 250th anniversary in 2015 in which they hosted a graveyard tour similar to our “Voices From The Past”. June will include a power point presentation featuring the church and its cemetery.

Fifty Years of Special Collections at UNC Charlotte

Robin Brabham was the founding head of the Special Collections Department of UNCC’s J. Murrey Atkins Library. Robin came to UNCC in 1969. In 1973, thanks in a large part to the generosity of local businessman and philanthropist Harry Dalton, he became the first head of Special Collections. At first the emphasis was on collecting rare books, especially first editions in American and English literature. As time passed, more attention was given to collecting manuscripts and other materials that document the history and culture of Charlotte and Mecklenburg County.

Robin earned his master’s degree in librarianship at Emory University and his master’s in history from UNC Chapel Hill. He retired in 2010, and is currently working on a bibliography of 19th century printing and publishing in Mecklenburg County. He says he “continues to assist and sometimes pester Special Collections and to find materials to add to the collections.” Anyone who has researched any part of our regional history understands and appreciates the monumental collection that Robin has spawned. We are fortunate indeed to have such a complete and well-organized archive so close to hand.

A Sad Goodbye to the McDowell House

Many of you are aware that property including the McDowell House at 7001 South Tryon Street near Beam Road in Steele Creek was recently purchased and will be redeveloped into a Multi-Family project. On behalf of MHA and as Historic Preservation Chairman of the Mecklenburg Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, I have worked with our DAR Regent, Amanda Ellinger, for almost two years to try to save this house. The significance lies in the McDowell family member, Jane Parks McDowell, who was our own female Paul Revere. In October of 1780 during the Revolutionary War, after the British plundered the McDowell plantation, Jane, with her young child strapped to her, rode ten miles in the dead of night to warn her husband, Captain John McDowell, that the British were on the move from Charlotte. Captain McDowell’s unit was camped near Sugar Creek Presbyterian Church and was able to respond because of Jane’s warning.

North Branch MHA Meeting

On April 10, at 7 pm at 18418 Statesville Rd. in Cornelius, David Stockwell will give us a private tour of his soon-to-be opened BoatYard Eats. This is an entertainment venue with food provided by food trucks. The site is the former Anchorage Marina, a landmark in Cornelius since the opening of Lake Norman. David has updated the site while maintaining its original character. He will be devoting space to local historical artifacts.

On May 8, David Stockwell will host again, this time at Merino’s Furniture Warehouse. More information will be available in the next MHA Newsletter. There will be no North Branch meetings in June, July or August.

We heard stories that the original log house had been built around and was still encased inside this house. That was not true – no log home there. The older part of this house was built c. 1820s and the two-story addition in front was added in the early 1900s. Several knowledgeable people and descendants tell us the location of John and Jane McDowell’s early home was across the road. The DAR stone monument was erected in the 1920s and it originally sat across South Tryon Street.

The developer, Mark Blythe, is interested in our history and generously offered to give us a piece of land on the property if we would move and renovate the house. We worked with a small group of interested people and obtained estimates. The cost estimates of $75,000-$85,000 to move the house and at least $1.2 million to do limited renovation to the house were simply too high to make any use of the house financially feasible.

So, Amanda and I watched as the house was demolished in February. The demolition company said it was the toughest house they had ever torn down and the largest pile of wood debris they’d ever seen. With the developer’s permission, the demolition crew helped us salvage hundreds of handmade bricks from the earlier double fireplace and many of the large foundation stones. One of our DAR members and her husband transported them and have them stored for us. We plan to relocate the Jane Parks McDowell DAR monument to a new location on the property and we will create a new site for it paved with the salvaged bricks and edged with the foundation stones. We hope that monument will help keep the story of Jane Parks McDowell alive for future generations.

Return to Voices From The Past
Saturday, April 14, from 1 to 4 pm.

Last year the MHA Docents introduced a new event to Charlotte, a cemetery tour called Voices From The Past. MHA Docent Lynn Mintzer had attended similar events elsewhere and agreed to be its chairman. On April 1, 2017, we invited the public to Settlers’ and Elmwood/Pinewood cemeteries uptown. There they could visit about fifty appropriately garbed portrayers, each standing beside a grave and assuming the persona of the grave’s occupant. It was free to the public, an enormous success with approximately 800 visitors, and definitely worth repeating. Lynn is serving as chairman again this year and has again partnered with Olde Mecklenburg Genealogical Society; Charlotte’s Center City Partners; Bill Bibby, director of Charlotte’s cemeteries; and a number of corporate sponsors. We are sure to have another stellar event.

This year is the 250th anniversary of the founding of the city of Charlotte and all of the “residents” of our cemeteries were part of that history. This year there will again be about fifty portrayers representing a broad swath of the past 250 years. Some will repeat last year’s presentation and there will also be new characters for you to meet. At Settlers, you will find Thomas Polk, the instigator of Charlotte’s founding in 1768. Dr. Ephraim Brevard and General George Graham were also part of Charlotte’s early history and all three of them were heroes of the American Revolution. Don’t miss the corner of Settlers’ that was reserved for “our servants”, a euphemism for slaves. There you will find Aggie and Cherry, slaves who cared for white children in addition to raising their own flocks. Don’t be surprised if they gossip a bit about the white folks. At Elmwood, you’ll find Dr. Annie Alexander, the South’s first licensed female physician. She may be too modest to say that she, the only woman of a hundred applicants at the licensing exam, scored the highest. Don’t miss Randolph Scott, the movie star. He’s been gone for thirty years but is Elmwood’s most visited gravesite. Perhaps Mr. Harry, a funeral director at the time, will tell you about Scott’s embalming. At Elmwood, you’ll also meet the Victorian funeral directors who will tell you of a bizarre way to absolve the deceased of their sins. And Gussie Berryhill is sure to have all the gossip of our more recent past. At Pinewood, originally called the “colored” cemetery, hear the story of Fred Alexander, a black city councilman and mayor pro tem who, with great effort and perseverance, succeeded in having the fence torn down between Elmwood and Pinewood. Now all rest together in God’s Acres.

There will be free parking along some of the lanes inside Elmwood. All automobile traffic must enter through the Cedar Street entrance. The main entrance on 6th Street will be open to foot traffic only. There are parking lots on 5th Street. Metered parking spaces are free all day on Saturdays. Queen City Tours is providing a free golf cart shuttle between Elmwood/Pinewood and Settlers (which is actually an easy walk) and B-Cycle is providing free bikes to ride between the cemeteries and within Elmwood/Pinewood. Even with the number of visitors last year, the spacious cemeteries were not crowded. This year we’ll have more guides including a group from the Children’s Theater of Charlotte. Last year, Mother Nature was kind and sent us a beautiful day. Nevertheless, we have scheduled a rain date this year on Sunday, April 15th. So, do put April 14th on your calendar and pass the word about Voices From The Past.
History News

The Reverend and Mrs. Morrison are Coming to Town

If you were so unfortunate as to have missed the appearance of the Reverend Doctor Robert Hall Morrison last year at Machpelah Church in Lincoln County and at the September MHA Docent meeting, here are three more chances. And this time he is being accompanied by his wife, Mary Graham Morrison.

Dr. Morrison was a leading Presbyterian minister in North Carolina, serving at Fayetteville and then in Charlotte at Sugar Creek Church and as founder of Charlotte First Presbyterian. In 1837 he founded Davidson College and he did it all. He convinced the Presbytery to support it, raised the money, chose the land and supervised the construction, curriculum and enrolment. Then he served as the first President and one of the first two professors. After a personal tragedy he retired from the College to become a wealthy planter in Lincoln County and, for the rest of his life, pastor of the oldest church in the county, Unity Presbyterian, and as founding pastor of Machpelah and Castanea Churches.

At these three events you will be able to meet and talk with Dr. Morrison and his wife Mary, the daughter of General Joseph Graham. They will be interpreted and presented by Jim and Ann Williams, who will speak and answer questions about their lives and accomplishments.

The appearance at the Davidson Historical Society will be on Sunday, March 11 at 4 pm at the Davidson College Alumni House, 420 N. Main Street in Davidson.

The appearance in Lincoln County will be on Saturday, April 21 at 2 pm at Machpelah Church. This church was founded by Rev. Morrison in 1848 and is rarely open to the public. It is located off the road from Beatties Ford to Lincolnton, Route US 73, at Tucker’s Grove Church Road.

The appearance at the Matthews Historical Foundation will be on Tuesday, April 24 at 6 pm at the Matthews Woman’s Club, 208 South Trade Street, Matthews.

Armistice Bell Ringing: Your Assistance Requested.

The NC Federation of Historical Societies has asked the Robinson-Spangler Carolina Room at the Charlotte-Mecklenburg Public Library for help. They want to identify all of the churches in our area that have a working set of bells or recorded bells. The NC Department of Cultural Resources is working to organize a ringing of the bells in communities across the state at 11 am on November 11, 2018. This is to commemorate the signing of the Armistice ending the First World War on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month. The goal is for church and government agencies’ bells to ring in all 100 counties in North Carolina.

If you can help identify these churches, contact Sheila Bumgarner sbumgarner@cmlibrary.org 704-416-0150.

News from the Cooking Guild

The Historical Cooking Guild of the Catawba Valley was featured on a live podcast as a part of one of the North Carolina Museum of History’s “LIVE” streaming events. These events bring the museum and history into school classrooms across the state. This was the first of these the Museum of History did “on location”. It took place at the James K. Polk State Historic Site on January 24 and was viewed live by more than 500 students in 17 counties. The live podcast “Cooking for the (future) President: James K. Polk State Historic Site” explored historic foodways, what could be learned from the foods people ate in the past and the ways meals were prepared. Cooking Guild members Carolyn Dilda and Sharon Van Kuren demonstrated cooking on the open hearth with seasonal foods and answered questions from teachers and students. The Historical Cooking Guild of the Catawba Valley was honored to share their skills, techniques, and research with school groups across the state.

The Empire in Your Hand

Tuesday, March 20 at 7:30 pm, 900 Room, College Union, Davidson College, Free.

UNC Chapel Hill History Professor Dr Richard Talbert, will discuss his work in analyzing portable Roman sundials. In a time before maps it is difficult for us to know how the early Romans visualized their vast empire. These instruments provided a form of early maps. The dials are marked with as many as three dozen cities or regions revealing how they visualized the world.

Fashionista’s of The 19th Century: Exhibit Closes Sunday, March 11.

In the 1800s it was considered erotic for women to show the back of their necks and it was seldom appropriate to show their ankles. This temporary exhibit can be toured Thursday through Sunday at 3 pm each day. You’ll learn how styles changed over time, when the looks we think of for Southern Belles were actually popular, and how they held those massive dresses up. Many beautiful outfits are on display for this event only.

Easter Egg Hunt, Saturday, March 24, Advanced Reservations Required.

Explore our enchanting gardens and wander through our ancient boxwoods as you and your child hunt for Easter eggs left by the Easter Bunny himself. The four egg hunts start at 10 am, 11 am, Noon and 1 pm. Eggs are filled with fun treats and educational facts about the plantation. Each participant will also leave with a small take-away gift, and as part of Rosedale’s silver anniversary as a museum there will be a special surprise at each hunt. Children of all ages are welcome and don’t forget your Easter Baskets.

Oyster-Roast, Sunday, March 25 from 2 to 5 pm, Reservations Required.

Oysters will be roasted outside in the true Southern coastal tradition. There will be Oyster cocktail, low country boil, sides, & hot dogs. Catering by The Comet Grill, Craft beer by Birdsong Brewing, garden tours by Larry Mellichamp, PhD and live music.

Polk and the Mexican-American War,
Saturday March 10 at 10 to 11:30 am, Registration Required.

Coffee and Conversation—Café y Conversación : Polk y Guerra de Estados Unidos a México—Polk and the Mexican-American War:

What do you know about this war? How was it portrayed in school? Did you learn about it at all? How is the war viewed differently in Mexico? Give your input and have your voice heard. Attendees will tour the museum and then give feedback on our current exhibit and make suggestions for improvements. Hot coffee and refreshments will be served.

How the Other 90% Ate: The Roots and Reality of Southern “Poverty Food”, Saturday, April 21 at 10 am to 2 pm, $40.00, Only 10 slots Available.

During this hands-on workshop, Clarissa Clifton Lynch will dig into the history of dishes like fried fish, neck bones, baked and fried chicken, cornbread, and more. These now iconic Southern dishes may have been portrayed as the food of the poor, but in reality they were the staples on the dinner tables of the majority of Southerners. Attendees will assist in the preparation of some of these dishes on the open hearth.

Hugh Torance
House and Store
www.hughtorancehouseandstore.com/

House Tours on first and third Sundays from 2 to 5 pm, Opening April 15 through October.

The Hugh Torance House and Store is truly a Mecklenburg treasure. The log house section of the building was built as a residence about 1780. In 1805 the building was expanded to include a store which operated until 1825. As the Torance family obtained land and wealth, it became a cotton plantation of 3,000 acres worked by over a hundred slaves. Extensive family history kept through the generations allows us to interpret nearly a century of Mecklenburg’s rich mercantile and plantation history.

Reenactment of the Battle of Guilford Courthouse, March 17 and 18

The Revolutionary War Battle of Guilford Courthouse was fought on March 15, 1781 between American forces under General Nathanael Greene and British forces under General Cornwallis. Although the British forces were in possession of the field at the end of the day, they were so destroyed in men and material that they retreated back to the coast at Wilmington. From there they went to Virginia and later surrendered at York Town, Virginia. Guilford Court House is generally considered to be the final turning point of the war.

This battle is reenacted each year on the weekend nearest March 15 and is the largest Revolutionary War reenactment in the South. This year it is on Saturday and Sunday, March 17 and 18 from 8:30 am to 5 pm each day at Country Park in Greensboro. Admission is free. The battle itself will be reenacted at 2 pm daily, giving spectators a glimpse of what took place on the battlefield back in 1781. During this two-day event, visitors can see military encampments and live firearms demonstrations. They can participate in various events, and purchase craft and trade items from that time period.
